The sacrifice we offer

We bring the gifts of bread and wine and the 'collection' right to the altar. We hand the bread and wine to the priest. We place the collection near the altar. Why? Those who process gifts do so on behalf of all of us. They come to the table bringing us with them. We, the Body of Christ, are placed on the altar. It is our sacrifice that we are present. This sacrifice might take the form of pain and suffering or joy and delight. Suffering doesn't have to hurt. Every loving gesture is a sacrifice, a sacrifice, a sacred act. Whether cleaning the house, doing a favour for a neighbour, or facing our own frailty. Whether enjoying a coffee with a friend, sharing a meal with family or celebrating an anniversary. If each of these activities has love as its source then these become our sacrifice. These are the gifts we place on the table, along with bread and wine and the collection.
